STUBBORN OLD SHIP, the destroyer escort George A. Johnson, is being dismantled on the beach near Pacifica, Calif., where it stranded itself last October. Commissioned in 1944, it was being towed to Long Beach to be scrapped when it snapped its towline and drifted to shore. Salvagers decided to dismantle the ship on the spot, where they must deal with powerful breakers and shifting tides.

This Glamorous Star Aspires to Just Being a Very Good Housewife

by HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Many housewives yearn to be glamorous stars. Caterina Valente is a glamorous star who aspires to be a housewife.

"If I ever should retire, I'll concentrate on being a housewife," she said. "I am very good at it."

She is so good at it that she has written a cookbook in German. It features Chinese dishes, her specialty.

It took seven generations of entertainers to produce Caterina, a performer of stunning brilliance whose versatility and industry lead her to be spoken of in show business with something akin to awe.

The slender, vivacious singer can belt out songs in 12 languages. She dances and plays the flute and guitar. She gives from 50 to 70 concerts a year in places as far apart as Sweden and Argentina. She makes a dozen to 20 television appearances a year in this country, Britain, Germany and Italy, and turns out from four to eight record albums.

She also tapes — in a West Berlin station, in Japanese — a disc jockey program for a Tokyo station and writes a syndicated fashion tips column.

"In my spare time I am also taking a correspondence course in photography," she said the other evening, resting in her room after receiving an ovation for her opening show in the Americana Hotel's Royal Box.

Caterina absorbed her many languages as a child while traveling with her Italian mother, Maria Valente, one of Europe's top comedienne.

"I had to learn several languages just to be able to talk to the playmates I met in the countries we traveled through," she said.

Caterina is married to Eric Van Aro, a German television producer whom she met and fell in love with when he was a music hall juggler. They live in an apartment in Lugano, Switzerland, but the singer feels she is lucky if she gets to spend three months of the year there.

Miss Valente offstage is warm, friendly and charming. "Going up in this business is one thing, but staying there is much harder," she says. "It takes work, work, work."

To Caterina life means love and cheerfulness.

"With love you can make everything work," she said. "It is not difficult to love and give love. If you do that, you'll get love back yourself."

"I believe in smiling 100 percent of the time if you can, too. You can reach so many things with a single smile — as long as you mean it."

Stalin Woman May End Up in India

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — Svetlana Stalina is still somewhere in Switzerland but diplomatic sources say India may turn out to be her permanent haven.

The sources say a return to the Soviet Union is out for religious and political reasons and that the United States and Switzerland are not eager for another prickly diplomatic issue.

Since March 11 the daughter of the late Soviet dictator has been dodging from one Swiss mountain hideaway to another, pursued by newsmen and photographers. She wound up in Switzerland after traveling from New Delhi, India, where she asked the U.S. Embassy for asylum on March 6.

Washington said it had issued her a visa for a short-term stay in America and would consider any definite request for refuge if she should decide to make one.

Swiss and foreign diplomats say a process of elimination makes India the most likely sanctuary for 42-year-old Svetlana.

They cite reports from India that she has become a Hindu and is not likely to want to return to her homeland, where religion is discouraged.

Although the U.S. government has cautiously expressed willingness to give her refuge, it is sure to be wary of any political embarrassment in a period of improving relations with the Soviet Union.

Informed sources say Switzerland almost certainly will not become her adopted country. Indications are that the government feels already that it has taken on a job too hot to handle.

The Indian government has denied that it refused to grant her asylum and has hinted strongly that it is prepared to give her refuge.

N. Vietnam Sudden Change Favored U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Vietnam played it cool for years. Then suddenly it didn't. And just because it didn't, it did.

President Johnson and the United States are in for a big favor. But it is the opposite.

Just when Johnson's popularity was way down and American prestige around the world was suffering because of the war in Vietnam, Hanoi on its own revealed the repeated efforts of Johnson to find some road to peace.

If Johnson had looked inflexible about making war until these revelations about his peace efforts, which Hanoi ridiculed, now it's the North Vietnamese who look bullheaded. They made Johnson look better, themselves worse.

This was the opposite of their intentions.

For years on the canvas of the world Hanoi had painted Johnson and the United States as berserk monsters and aggressors and, in the process, belittled all the American statements about wanting peace.

North Vietnam's leader, Ho Chi Minh, had a pat answer for American peace suggestions: Stop the bombing unconditionally.

ly, although Johnson had ordered bombing pauses to see if North Vietnam would respond. It didn't.

Gradually the American position hardened. Johnson laid down the preliminary condition for peace: If this country is to stop the bombing, Hanoi must show it is interested in peace by reducing some of its own war-making.

Johnson's critics, here and elsewhere, ignoring his proposal, apparently preferred to listen to Hanoi. They clubbed Johnson for not doing what Hanoi demanded: Stop the bombing unconditionally or at least indefinitely.

They skipped over the fact that North Vietnam had ignored several chances — during the bombing pauses — to show it was interested in ending the war.

At the time of the last bombing pause in February, Johnson wrote Ho Chi Minh directly, proposing peace steps. But the North Vietnamese leader didn't answer until the day after Johnson finally ordered the bombing resumed.

And all Ho Chi Minh did then was what he had done before. He ridiculed Johnson's efforts. Worse still, from Washington's view, he didn't even show enough interest in peace to hint at some further correspondence.

While Johnson could have made capital out of this, by making the correspondence public to show Ho Chi Minh had rejected his peace gesture, he didn't. He considered the whole business too delicate to risk wrecking it by exposure.

For some twisted reason — it showed no sense, since it was bound to work against them — the North Vietnamese broadcast the Johnson-Ho Chi Minh correspondence, along with the usual ridicule.

Humphrey to Meet With Pope Paul

By HARRY KELLY

ROME (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, whose visit has provoked stormy demonstrations against the Vietnam war, meets with Pope Paul VI today to discuss peace hopes. Police braced for more anti-war protests.

A noisy mob of almost 1,000 Communist and Socialist youths tangled traffic Friday. They scattered leaflets and shouted, "Humphrey go home! Johnson, hands off Vietnam!" just outside the Prime Ministry where the vice president was conferring with Italian leaders.

Hundreds of Italian police wrestled demonstrators by the scores into jail-bound buses and trucks. Police said 300 were seized. All but a handful were released.

The Italian Communist party organ L'Unita said in a front-page editorial today that President Johnson's recent statements on Vietnam amounted to a return to the so-called "brinkmanship" foreign policy of the late John Foster Dulles.

After his audience with the pontiff, Humphrey was to leave by train for flood-damaged Florence, where Communists in the city government have announced they will boycott a civic reception for him.

Humphrey, who was sprinkled by yellow paint thrown by an antiwar demonstrator Thursday night, is nearing the midway point of his two-week fence-mending tour of six European nations.

In Italy, as on previous stops in the Netherlands and Germany, Humphrey argued the need for a nuclear nonproliferation treaty and the treaty to reduce trade barriers.

Legislature Passed Highway Beautification

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas House passed and sent to Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller Friday a Highway Beautification bill that supporters said was needed to prevent the state from losing $8 million in federal highway funds.

The bill passed 71-17 after debate in which opponents said the measure took away property from individuals along primary highways.

The bill regulates outdoor advertising and junkyards along primary highways. It prohibits the erection of billboards within 600 feet of either side of a highway right-of-way.

Junkyards cannot be within 1,000 feet of a highway unless it is screened from view.

Rep. John Harberson of Nashville called the measure "the Lady Bird bill."

RFK Appeals for Unity Behind LBJ

By CARL LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., appealed today for Democratic unity behind President Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to insure a Democratic victory in the 1968 election.

"I know that all of you are going to work for them as I am going to work for them in 1968," Kennedy told a breakfast meeting of Democratic state chairmen and vice chairmen, sponsored by the New York State Democratic Committee.

He said, "We are brothers together, we can work together." Then he added that "we have a strong team in President Johnson and Vice President Humphrey."

The important thing, he said, is to insure the continuation of a Democratic administration in Washington.

Kennedy admitted there are "differences within the Democratic party." But he said "that is part of our strength."

The chairmen are winding up two days of meetings today after giving President Johnson two standing ovations for an hour-long defense of his domestic and Vietnam policies.

Matthews Called Outstanding

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas House adopted a resolution Friday designating Rep. Charles Matthews of North Little Rock as the outstanding freshman member of the House in this session.

Rep. Chadd Durrett of El Dorado, author of the resolution, said the session's 44 freshmen constituted the best freshman group he had ever been associated with.

This Is Traditional Day for Gentle Fun — It's April Fool's Day

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Star Feature Writer

This is the traditional day for gentle fun, silly jokes, and a slight jarring of the funny bone — April Fool's Day. It's the one time of year when we aren't aroused indignantly at being called a fool (provided "April" precedes the word), and we aren't in grave danger of eternal doom ourselves if we turn the phrase in another's direction.

You've heard, no doubt, that it takes less muscles to smile than it does to frown. But a recent article revealed that the physical benefits of laughter are many. A hearty laugh — not the suppressed kind — is good for the heart, aids digestion, stimulates the brain and nervous system, and helps both high blood pressure and low pressure.

No wonder we find in Proverbs 17:22 "A merry heart doeth good like a medicine."

Wilfred Peterson said, "Laughter is the best medicine for a long and happy life. He who laughs — lasts." One of the "departments" in Reader's Digest each month is entitled "Laughter is the Best Medicine," so, apparently, a great many people share this same opinion.

"Laugh and the world laughs with you; weep and you weep alone" is often quoted, and this is certainly true. We aren't saying that sympathetic people don't exist anymore. They do and always come to the aid and comfort of those in distress. But when a person dwells on a sorrowful situation to the exclusion of every bright and hopeful happening and does so for a long period of time, the truth of the matter is people don't seek "the pleasure of his company" since "it's no longer a pleasure."

Benjamin Franklin said, "All the Constitution guarantees is the pursuit of happiness. You have to catch up with it yourself." Well, most of us take part in looking for this Blue Bird, but sometimes we forget that the best "seed" for the feeder is a smile.

The serious side of life is not to be ignored, and a multiplicity of problems facing mankind today need to be handled with level-headed rationality. War, death, and disaster are no laughing matter, and we all seek ways to combat them. Is it possible to have one weapon against all these things?

Mark Twain thought so and put it into these words, "The human race has only one really effective weapon and that is laughter."

So, smile awhile. It's also good for the liver.

Newsboys Bill Passes; Needs Gov. Signature

Palmer Arkansas News Bureau
LITTLE ROCK — A bill to exempt newsboys from the 1914 Arkansas Child Labor Law awaits the signature of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

Legislative action was completed Friday when the Senate concurred by a voice vote in a House amendment inserting an "independent contractor" clause into the bill.

The change in the Child Labor Law is needed to permit thousands of newsboys to continue their jobs. The Arkansas Supreme Court ruled on March 13 that newsboys were not excluded from the 1914 Initiated Act.

This would have meant that boys under 14 no longer would be eligible to be newsboys. The bill corrects this.

The Legislation provides that a minor may be employed or may enter into contract to buy, sell, deliver and collect for newspapers, upon written approval of his parent or guardian.

However, the measure ran into trouble in the Senate because of the "independent contractor" clause. This had been deleted from the measure (SB 488) when it was first approved Wednesday.

The House re-inserted the clause and sent the amended measure back to the Senate for concurrence.

The bill was sponsored by the Arkansas Press Association, representing 160 daily and weekly newspapers. The original measure was opposed by the Arkansas AFL-CIO, which wanted to have the newsboys included under Workman's Compensation.

An amendment requiring insurance covers of $10,000 for death and $5,000 for medical expenses was placed on the bill by Rep. Worth Camp, Jr. of El Dorado. The Senate agreed to this amendment but deleted the "independent contractor" provision. Most newspapers already have insurance coverage for newsboys.

Sen. William D. (Bill) Moore of El Dorado made a personal privilege talk Friday in which he attacked the Arkansas Press Association. He said organized labor had agreed to withhold the Workman's Compensation provision if the "independent contractor" clause was taken out. He claimed the APA reneged on an agreement to strike out the phrase.

Sen. Max Howell, of Little Rock, who led the floor fight against the concurrence of the House amendment, questioned the "independent contractor" clause because of its legal implications. He charged that it would "sandbag" the newsboys, whom he said would be protected anyway by the court ruling.

Sen. Oscar Alagood of Little Rock, Sen. Dorothy Allen of Brinkley, Sen. Melvin Chambers and Sen. Guy (Mutt) Jones of Conway spoke in behalf of the bill.

Alagood pointed out that he disagreed with parts of the measure, but emphasized that it was necessary to keep the newsboys in business. He said the protection was needed and suggested that a better bill might be written for the 1969 General Assembly.

WR Is Going to a Wedding

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller planned to fly to Chicago today for the wedding of his nephew, John D. Rockefeller IV, and Sharon Percy, daughter of U. S. Sen. Charles Percy.

Arrest Made In Larceny; Arson Case

Burglary, grand larceny and arson charges have been filed against Terry York, 19, of Hope, in the burning of the J. P. (Pinky) Byers home on Bois d'Arc lake by Norman M. Smith, Deputy Prosecuting Attorney. Investigating Officers were the Hempstead County Sheriff's department, State and City Police. York is being held in Hempstead County jail with bond set at $10,000. Some of the merchandise taken from the home before the burning has been recovered, including a stereo, color television set, toaster, percolator and some linens. The investigation is continuing.

Consular Treaty Is Signed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed Friday without comment or fanfare the consular treaty with the Soviet Union.

The agreement will not take full effect until it is ratified by the Soviet Union, an action that may be some months away.

Johnson, who fought hard to gain Senate ratification of the treaty over sizable opposition, sat alone at his desk and used a dozen pens to sign the formal instrument of ratification on behalf of the United States.

The consular convention is the first treaty ever concluded between just the United States and the Soviet Union. United States-Russian treaties existed in pre-Communist czarist days and more recently both countries have joined in multinational pacts.

The consular treaty sets forth technical procedures to be followed in various nondiplomatic dealings between the two nations.

50th Year for Land Bank System

The Federal Land Bank Association of Texarkana will observe the 50th Anniversary of the Federal Land Bank System with a banquet on Monday, April 3.

Fred Stotts, manager of the association said the occasion for the banquet will be to pay tribute to "America's Farmers: Providers of Plenty."

The banquet, to be held at Howard Johnson's Convention Center will be attended by officers and directors of the Federal land bank association, local business and agricultural leaders, and others.

The date of the banquet coincides with the chartering of the last of the 12 Federal land banks in the system. All of the banks were chartered between March 1 and April 3, 1917, under the provisions of the Federal Farm Loan Act. The Federal Land Bank of St. Louis was chartered March 8, 1917.

April has been designated Federal Land Bank Month in Arkansas by Governor Rockefeller.

The Federal Land Bank Association of Texarkana is a part of the Sixth Farm Credit District. This district ranks among the top in the country in agricultural production. The district includes the states of Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas and has 64 associations. These associations provide long-term, low cost loans to farmers and have been one of the major reasons for the productivity of the district.

The Federal Land Bank Association of Texarkana has 400 members and loans outstanding in the amount of $6,500,000.

WR Refuses to Cut Sentence

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The five-year sentence for grand larceny of Mrs. Beatrice Evans, 35, of Blytheville was refused commutation Thursday by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

Rockefeller refused to reduce the sentence because of two prior convictions in which Mrs. Evans' sentence was suspended.

RAY TURNER

Ray Turner, local Lincoln-Mercury dealer, has been elected to represent the Memphis zone at the 1967 Lincoln-Mercury Dealer Council Meeting to be held Monday, April 3, in the Holiday Inn in Memphis. Ray was selected by his fellow dealers in Zone F and was notified of this honor by T. S. Masters, Asst. District Sales Manager of Lincoln-Mercury Division, Ford Motor Company.

How To Be Absolutely Fairest

Many companies screen job applicants through an array of tests — intelligence, spelling, mechanical aptitude, etc. The idea, we gather, is to help the personnel manager select the candidate most likely to succeed at a given job and reject the man who isn't.

Without a doubt, however, this is discriminatory. Whatever the standard of measure, whether it be brute strength or intelligence, its application favors some and discriminates against others. In looking for a bookkeeper, the company seeks someone who knows a little arithmetic, and just as surely discriminates against the man who still counts on his fingers.

Is this fair? Don't answer hastily. In a case pending against the Swanson Frozen Foods Company, the complaint is that in hiring the more intelligent and rejecting the less intelligent the company is discriminating unfairly against the uneducated.

It probably is, if it does not discriminate against the less educated, it must discriminate against the more educated. And from there on the going gets stickier and stickier. How to be absolutely fair without being unfair still eludes the most painstaking search. — Charleston (W. Va.) Daily Mail

One Out Of Four

Demographers' statistics on the population explosion are often too dismaying for comprehension. Here's one which brings home the meaning of all those digits: About one-fourth of the people who ever lived on earth are now alive.

Repeating: one out of four of all the people who have lived since time began are now alive. And if you don't believe that, take a drive on a nice, warm and spring-like Sunday afternoon now that football's off the screen and April's in the wings. You may also conclude that fully one-half of all the cars ever made are still running. — Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser and Journal

Money Bill Is Quickly Settled

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Senate attached a minor amendment to the House revenue stabilization bill Friday and the House immediately concurred, clearing the way for the measure to be sent to Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

The amendment provides that turnback money to the counties and municipalities shall be paid monthly instead of quarterly.

The bill had been the subject of controversy in the Senate where members wanted to guarantee $500 raises for the state public school teachers and increase the likelihood that cities would receive more turnback aid.

State Joins in Daylight Savings Time

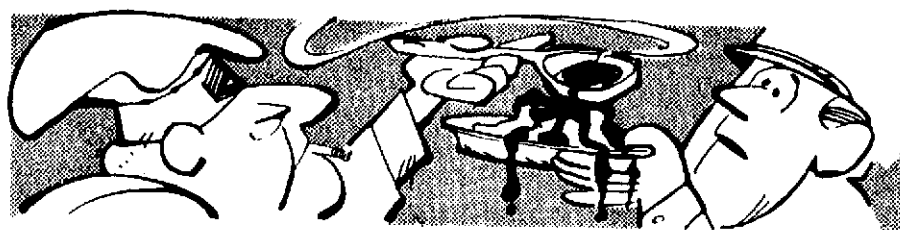

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas will join most of the states in the nation by going on daylight saving time beginning April 30, the last Sunday of the month.

The issue was settled today when the 66th General Assembly adjourned sine die without taking action on a bill to keep the state on standard time.

Congress last year passed legislation requiring all states to go on daylight saving time from the last Sunday in April until the last Sunday in October.

States not wanting saving time could retain standard time providing its legislature passed legislation to do so.

LESS MESS GEAR

Leave it to the U.S. Army to dream up still another kind of paperwork. For once, though, nothing goes into a permanent file—only into a disposal pit.

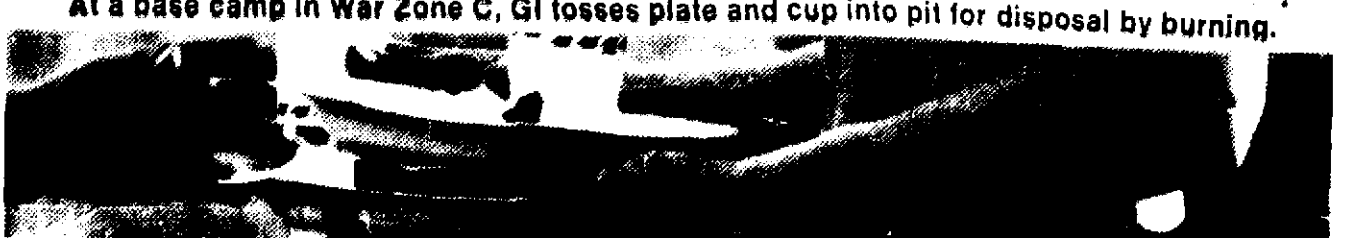

The old-fashioned mess kit is going out of style with our troops in Vietnam. Paper plates and cups are moving in.

Mess kits probably date back to the days of Caesar's legions. And in the time soldiers have spent just keeping them clean, we could fight the Hundred Year's War all over again.

The Army is solving the problem for many of our combat troops in Vietnam by dishing up their meals on paper plates, and giving them paper cups to drink from. The Department of Defense says about 100,000 paper utensils are used a day. No longer does a medic stand in the chow line, checking mess kits and trays for cleanliness. When the GI finishes his meal, he tosses his used paperware into the disposal pit, and that's that. He gets better meals, too—hot food flown into areas where good sanitation is entirely impossible, and where troops previously made do on cold picnic-style lunches.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Almost all television viewers are weight-watchers. Not their own, but performers' weights.

The camera is a cruel eye that not only picks up wrinkles and sagging necklines on aging women performers, but somehow adds about 15 pounds on the worst spots of every performer. With few exceptions, everybody in television is either on a diet or going on one the next day.

The fans notice. They eagerly tune in the first Jackie Gleason Show of the season to find if Gleason lost any pounds over the summer. They learned to tell the age of a "Perry Mason" episode by the steadily expanding girth of the star, Raymond Burr, over the seasons.

Bob Hope has had his skinny seasons and his plumper ones.

The ups and downs of Jack E. Leonard are easily noted on the assorted variety shows on which he appears.

But of all the stars, the one who had made the most dramatic reduction of all is Sid Caesar. In a recent appearance on the Dean Martin Show, his slim boyish build combined with a new hair-style actually made him hard to recognize.

Caesar has, in fact, lost 50 pounds over the past few months. He will be in CBS' "The Sid Caesar-Innocence Coca-Carl Reiner-Howard Morris" special next Wednesday night, a reunion of the team that made "Your Show of Shows" an early TV delight. They wanted to use the old title, but could not get permission from Max Liebman, producer of the old show, who owns it.

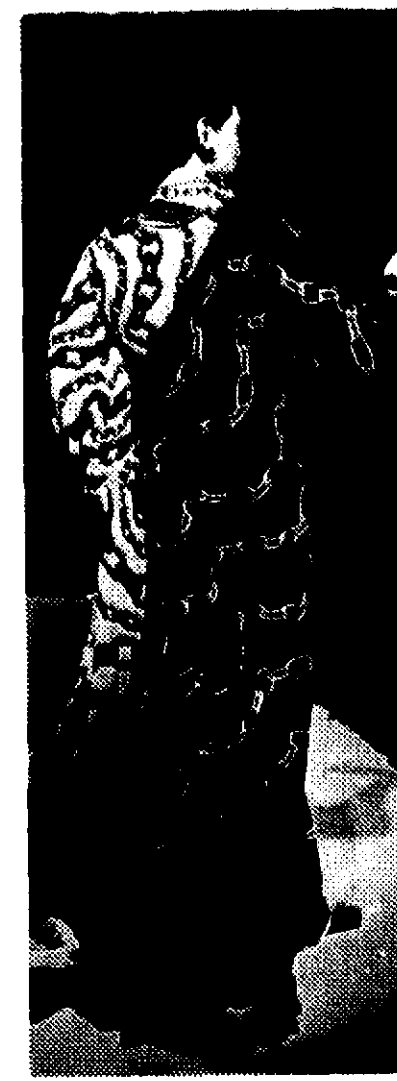

"I just decided one day that I had too much weight," said Caesar, "and I said that's it—I'll lose it. So I did."

"I just went on a high protein diet and I do a lot of exercises, like push ups," he continued. "That's all there is to it. The exercises are just as important as the diet."

Caesar, whose career has been concentrated recently more on night club appearances and film roles than on television, does not hanker particularly for a return to weekly television unless it could be a free wheeling variety hour.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What do television stars do with their free time? If they have the energy — and maybe live wire agents — they make movies.

Every television star must face that time when the ratings inevitably will nosedive and he will have to seek other employment. The hope of most of them is to become attractions in feature films, as a handful of TV veterans have done—Steve McQueen, James Garner, Dick Van Dyke, etc.

And so television people are trying their hands at big screen movies. Barbara Parkins, member of the "Peyton Place" cast, is having a fling at her first starring movie, "Valley of the Dolls." The film also features Patty Duke in her first venture away from her series.

Raymond Burr, late of Perry Mason and soon to star in a new series "Ironside", is co-starring with George Peppard in "Criss Cross". The "Hogan's Heroes" crew — Bob Crane, Werner Klemperer and John Banner — have joined sex images Elke Sommer and Maureen Arthur in "The Wicked Dreams of Paula Schultz".

Lucille Ball is hoping to activate her project on the Beardsley family of 19 children, with Henry Fonda as co-star. Buddy Ebsen of "Beverly Hillsbillies" is ambulating through "The One and Only Genuine Family Band". The Disney film also stars Walter Brennan, who is coming

Youth Beat

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

MILLIONS OF JOBS—BUT WHICH JOB FOR YOU? Come this June millions of high and junior high school guys and gals will fling down books and head pellmell for jobs (many permanent, some only for the summer). Many teens will also be aiming with bated breath toward college—and wondering about later careers. What kind of work will suit you? YOUTH BEAT has sifted through the files of one of the country's leading guides on future careers, to dig up data and tips. Studies show three long-time popular careers still hold top interest for guys and gals today.

Nursing is still tops with girls: Yep, despite hospital admissions soaring and the heavy work load, girls continue to be intensely interested in this career of helping other people's health. Experts say qualifications are—good health yourself, interest in people, responsibility, wanting to take care of others. You usually train in a hospital school for three years (high school diploma required). . . though registered nurse courses exist in junior and senior colleges. Right now, three-quarters of a million new nurses are needed . . . more, every year. Pay to start is $3,750 to $5,500. You can graduate right into acceptance for the military services' nurse corps or government programs abroad . . . and, if you retire to raise a family, nurse training comes in mighty handy.

Teaching's for both girls and boys: LBJ was a teacher; RFK has said he'd like to teach. Close to two million today are secondary school teachers . . . and maybe you could do a lot better? If so, set your sights on four years at one of the 1,200 colleges and universities that churn out teachers. But, first, be sure you're good at two things—you like to learn, you like the satisfaction of teaching others. One out of every four people today in the United States is in school . . . and, beyond that, there's a big call for U.S. teachers in government service and foreign schools abroad. You can earn?—$3,500 to $6,000 to start . . . national average now for all teachers is $6,500. But this rises to much more in highly educational-prone communities. As a career, can demand a lot and your pupils take a lot out of you (don't YOU know?), but can be very satisfying.

So, you want to be a doctor? Two things to remember—you'll need dedication and you'll never stop studying . . . doctors have to slave to keep up with the mountain of new medical discoveries. Demanding preparation will gobble up time and money—seven years of schooling, plus two years as a low-paid intern . . . and maybe three more years in a clinic, to be a specialist. Qualifications: good judgment (how sick is a person—with what?); courage (operate or not operate?); and a constitution like a truck driver (people get sick 24 hours a day). But doctors (including girls—because women make splendid physicians) can count on a very active life walking around with that little black bag . . . a high standing in the community . . . and earnings up to $20-25,000 a year or more.

More about careers—Learn all about 'em! YOUTH BEAT has arranged so you can write for the 424-page "Career Opportunities" book (57 careers), free from New York Life Insurance Co., Box YB, Madison Square Station, New York, N.Y. 10010. Write 'em.

OU-LA-LA, PARDON MY DISAPPEARING SWIMSUIT: The French with their highly deserved reputation for high fashion, will introduce a new note, this spring, in the new lines of paperwear becoming so popular with younger girls everywhere. It's a charming paper swimsuit.

HOTLINE FOR TEENS IN TROUBLE: Teen-age men (and girls) overcome with that I-want-to-go-junior-delinquent feeling can run to the nearest phone and dial for help, now, in Merrick and Belmore. Long Island. They dial a "troubled teen" phone number and reach a member of a youth aid panel . . . maybe a psychiatrist, doctor, lawyer, minister or educator. Immediately, phone advice is given, and follow-up help if needed . . . all anonymous and confidential. This hotline does not discriminate—troubled parents of troubled teens may run and dial it, too.

Asymmetrical one-shoulder chiffon coat is worn over matching palazzo pajamas. Evening pajamas (center) are in white surah printed in giant brown circles over matching chiffon. Butterfly dress (right) is a hand-painted profusion of rainbow colors.

The NOW People

By AILEEN SNODDY

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Taking a page from his history textbooks, inventor and manufacturer Arne Pedersen shouldn't have been disturbed when people laughed at his ideas.

The uneasy chortle of those who fear that the guy with an inquisitive bent will rock the boat is centuries old. There are scholars, in fact, still trying to prove Columbus was crazy.

It rankles the ambitious Dane, though, that "even my father laughed at me when I talked of manufacturing a heated hair curler. But he's ways laughed at anything I wanted to do."

This comment may sound embittered but Pedersen's face didn't screw up. He merely gazed intensely at an office wall with eyes certainly bluer than Jack Benny's. He was clothed correctly in a blue pin-stripe; his curly hair cut and combed over the forehead in a dignified Mod, with-it style.

His move into the beauty equipment field brought many snickers from friends and competitors when the item was in its rude, workshop stage.

He and his few associates plugged along to solve the problems of combining plastic and aluminum in a safe, suitable container. It was tough going with a knife, saw, file and vise, he said.

What was rougher, though, was walking down the street, Pedersen admits, needing to pay creditors $10,000 a day. Today he drives a yellow Rolls-Royce.

Pedersen was $300,000 in debt when production finally began in 1965 in his home town of Kalunborg, a short

HELEN HELP US!

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!
This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us in this newspaper.

NONCONFORMIST OR JUST BROKE?
Dear Helen: What does a girl do with a fellow who wears army boots to school every day? They look awkward and out of place. He gets kidded. I told him I thought they looked silly, but he refused to discuss it, saying only that he was not interested in appearance, but in maximum efficiency and his own comfort. (Can a boy REALLY find happiness in a pair of klunky army boots?)

I think he wears them to show everyone he is not "one of the sheep." But if he cares about me, don't you think he should consider my opinion in this matter of dress?

I already tried stealing his shoelaces, but it didn't work. He had spares.—IF THE BOOT FITS. . .

Dear If: Maybe your b.f. wears army boots because he has not got anything else.

No matter what the reason—nonconformist or flat wallet—I think you should take him as is, or turn him loose. He'll outgrow the boot kick sooner if you stop kicking about them.—H.

Dear Helen: I am 16 and going to prep school. I was going steady with a mature 14-year-old girl. Well, now she is pregnant, and my problem is twofold:

1. She wants me to be the lawful father of the baby by marrying her.

2. Her father wasn't kidding when he said if I saw her again he would kill me.

My mother wants me to finish school but get part-time work and start paying toward the balance from Copenhagen.

Six women and a man assembled parts made by sub-contractors and turned out 200 sets a week in a makeshift factory. The Carmen Curlers Co., Ltd., now produces 35,000 units a week, with volume going up, and the heated curler is distributed in the United States by Clairol, Inc.

In New York briefly, Pedersen was on his way to the Far East, where he worked for six years and saved his initial bankroll.

Although he won a scholarship to Cambridge when 17, Pedersen couldn't use it because he was broke. His father, he explains, was a small farmer who "scrapped to feed his six brothers and sister during the Depression."

"Those who never lived through a war or depression don't understand," Pedersen, 39, adds kindly when referring to his father's attitude toward his son's pie-in-the-sky thoughts.

Yet, his endeavors proved quite businesslike and showed he had a definite design for success in mind.

His move into the beauty equipment field brought many snickers from friends and competitors when the item was in its rude, workshop stage.

He and his few associates plugged along to solve the problems of combining plastic and aluminum in a safe, suitable container. It was tough going with a knife, saw, file and vise, he said.

What was rougher, though, was walking down the street, Pedersen admits, needing to pay creditors $10,000 a day. Today he drives a yellow Rolls-Royce.

Except The LORD Build The HOUSE They Labor In Vain That Build It CONSIDER HER WAYS

"Go to the Ant, thou sluggard; consider her ways, and be wise," Prov. 6:6.

Jesus condemned the man who buried his talent. He said, "Six days shalt thou labor and do all thy work." When skies are clear the ant stores up food for wintry days while the sluggard sleepeth on. If the ant must make preparation for her future, then it is all the more important that man do so. Jesus said, "the Father worketh hitherto and I work." Paul said, If a man will not work, not to let him eat. Fruitless trees must be cut down. The greatest work is work for God. Are you a worker or a drone in your church? This is the day of salvation. God says, "Son, go work today in my vineyard, for the night cometh when no man can work." The ant is industrious, the true Christian is that way, too. Consider Her Ways and Work.

Too often we are inclined to think that anybody who spends a dollar for advertising does it from a purely selfish standpoint. But here, public - spirited, God - worshipping people, are paying each week to insert in this paper a full page, from which they will draw no quick response nor prompt sale. These people are good and humble business men — We owe them our gratitude.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

Wearing Dentures at Night Is Matter of Own Tolerance

By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

From Portland, Ore., R. G. Welden, D.M.D., writes that patients are ill-advised to sleep with their dentures in. He believes that gum tissue requires rest to repair itself from damage inflicted on it by artificial dentures. This reasoning is valid for some, but most patients seem to be able to tolerate continual wearing of their dentures. They feel more comfortable with them in, and it seems that facial contours are better maintained by constant wearing. If you prefer wearing your dentures at night but are concerned about possible chronic gum irritation, consult your dentist. An examination of your mouth should clearly indicate your degree of tolerance.

One proper Boston lady said, "... removing my teeth at bed time is just too undignified. Suppose a robber came and saw me that way?"

From Pittsburgh, Pa., L. J. Karageorge, D.D.S., writes, "... I enjoy reading your articles because you write about things I daily preach to my patients."

"Recently, though, in explaining numbness of the jaw you wrote that our bodies are 'bilaterally symmetrical'. That's not so. You just don't know what you are. You are a bilateral, metameric, triploblastic, coelomocoelous animal with a calcareous endoskeleton and an underlying mantle divisible into head, foot and visceral regions. You and I and everyone else on this earth has three faces whether he likes it or not."

Well, well, doctor. You've completely ignored the teachings of that great philosopher, Prof. Zuveildrech, who said "... we al haf zwei ears, zwei eyes, zwei chins, zwei arms and legs, and efen zwei souls, right and left maybe ... or right and wrong ... or ..."

From Albuquerque, N.M., another dentist writes, "I read with special interest your column on T.M. joint disturbances." Then he goes on to say that many body ills come from teeth that don't come together harmoniously. He and his group maintain that faulty bite can cause tightening of jaw muscles which can cause muscle spasms in other body areas and have a chain reaction, thus further causing headaches, back aches, insomnia, constipation, fatigue, nausea, leg weakness, sinus trouble, and more. By adjusting the bite, he claims to have cured these and, also, pigeon breast, nosebleeds, temper fits and nervousness, and stopped bed-wetting, improved hearing, reduced constipation, and one young patient who was "slow in school now is at the head of his class."

Patients with T.M. joint problems often acquire "neurological symptoms" but this estimate of cures is perhaps too enthusiastic.

Please send your questions about dental health to Dr. Lawrence in care of this paper. While he cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Dick-Mel Hope for More Wins

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dick Ellsworth and Mel Stottlemyre probably are the only major league leaders who won't be satisfied until somebody succeeds them.

Friday, Ellsworth and Stottlemyre took early measures to make sure they don't repeat as the losingest pitchers in baseball.

Ellsworth, who dropped 22 games for the Chicago Cubs in 1966, became the first pitcher this spring to go nine innings in hurling Philadelphia past Cincinnati 2-0 in an exhibition game Friday night.

Stottlemyre, whose 20 losses were high in the American League, pitched seven scoreless innings as the New York Yankees downed Boston 3-1 in the first major league exhibition ever played in the Virgin Islands.

Ellsworth, dealt to the Phillies in a winter trade for pitcher Ray Culp, tamed Cincinnati on only 103 pitches at Clearwater, Fla. He walked only one, struck out nine and was helped by three double plays.

The 27-year-old left-hander had an 8-22 record last season. Stottlemyre, who won 20 in 1965 but finished 12-20 as the Yankees tumbled to last place in 1966, stymied the Red Sox on two hits in his best showing of the spring.

Cleveland's Sam McDowell, another pitcher who'd like to forget 1966, fired seven shutout innings as the Indians trimmed the Cubs 6-3 at Scottsdale, Ariz. Seven-run innings carried the Baltimore Orioles and Houston Astros to victories over Pittsburgh and Los Angeles in other night games.

The Orioles exploded with two out in the seventh, erased a 4-1 Pirate lead and won 8-4 at Ponce, Puerto Rico. Luis Aparicio started the rally with a double off Woody Fryman. Two walks, four singles and Dave Johnson's triple completed the seven-run burst.

Houston pummeled right-hander Don Sutton for seven runs in the second inning and went on to bury the Dodgers 13-1 in the Astro dome.

A pair of two-run homers by Jim Davenport powered San Francisco to a 10-6 victory over California at Phoenix, Ariz., while the Chicago White Sox scored twice in the sixth inning on a passed ball and Ron Hansen's double for a 6-4 decision over the New York Mets at Sarasota, Fla.

The Giants, with a 14-6 record, and the White Sox, 13-6 top the exhibition standings. Mike Shannon's grand slam homer and Lou Brock's three-run triple paced St. Louis to a 12-2 romp over Kansas City at St. Petersburg, Fla. Rico Carty knocked in two runs with a double and triple in Atlanta's 4-2 victory over Minnesota at West Palm Beach, Fla., and Washington pushed over two runs in the 10th inning to edge Detroit 3-1 at Lakeland, Fla.

Pat Smith's Outdoor Notebook

Ten years ago, the phrase "preserve shooting" struck the ears of the purists with the discordance imaginable in a Chinese fire drill. "Fie," said they, writhing in their hunting togs. "Such brutality, such artificiality... such (sputter) such... unsportsmanship!"

Hunting preserves, said these great hearts, would only result in lowering the standards of bird shooting to the level of a Coney Island shooting gallery.

How could any true hunter reconcile the planting of pen-raised birds in fields with the thrilling uncertainties of the hunt?

At that time, Nilo Farms had already been operating for five years, searching for the answer through the tedious procedure of gathering scientific data on the preserve concept.

Today, through the efforts of the men of Nilo and other experimental farms, preserve shooting has arrived.

preserve management has finally been packaged in a 311-page hardcover titled, "Shooting Preserve Management—The Nilo System."

Its authors are Dr. Edward Kozicky and Johnny Madson, a most-respected scientist-writer team in the area of the outdoors. Dr. Kozicky is generally recognized as the most knowledgeable preserve authority and Madson is a writer of some of the best outdoors prose ever laid down.

If the latter rattles you, please pick up a copy of Madson's "Stories From Under The Sky."

Although the book details the management of Nilo Farms, most of the information applies to preserves in any part of the country. Profusely illustrated with photos, cartoons and construction plans, the book contains 13 chapters on shooting preserve history, types of preserves, management, mallards, pheasants, bobwhite quail, chukar partridge, shooting preserve cover, dogs, economics, advertising and promotion, safety and many tips and aides that cannot be categorized.

"Shooting Preserve Management" is available for $4.95, postpaid, from the Conservation Department, Winchester-Western Division of Olin, East Alton, Ill. 62024.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—Why is the ordinary dinner jacket called a "tuxedo?"

A—The name is said to have originated with a country club at Tuxedo Park, N.Y., where this type of dinner jacket was first worn.

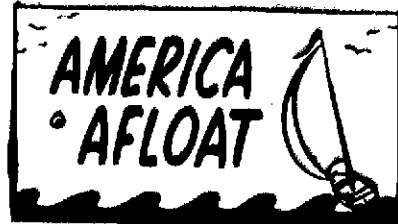

Q—What is meant by the expression, "His speech was graced with attic salt?"

A—The phrase is used to mean a certain wit or vigor of style in writing, in reference to the superior quality anciently attributed to Athenian works. The Roman style was heavier, less spirited.

Q—What denomination is New York's "Little Church Around the Corner?"

A—Episcopalian.

Lately, they've been designing boats for people who don't want to stay in them.

First came runabouts for sports who like to be dragged behind on water skis. Now, there are hulls that open up to let passengers step out and sink on purpose.

The underwater back-pack set gets around all right below the surface where scuba gear has no weight. Climbing back aboard wearing tanks and weight belt is something else again.

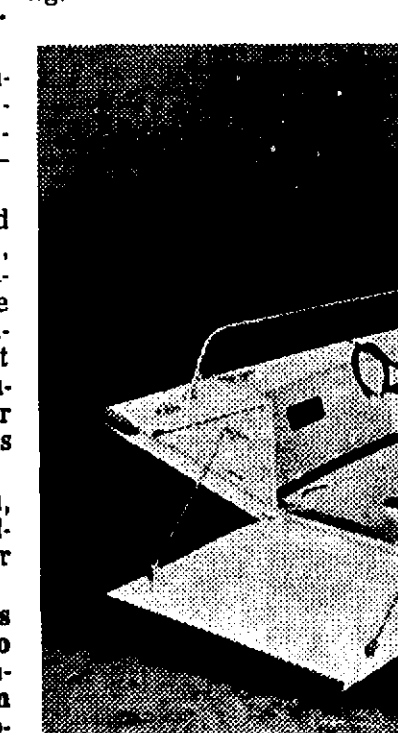

Chinning up over the side of the average craft is difficult. Gang up enough friends along the gunwale to pull a diver back aboard and a small boat also may flip and dump everyone in the water instead.

Builders in southern Florida and northern Michigan have come up with a couple answers. One is called Aquasport 22-2 and is an offshore fishing boat made in Hialeah, Fla., by Coburn & Sargent. It has a flop-down platform that hinges up flush into the top side while underway. At anchor, a diver steps out onto it and into the water. After surfacing, he can roll back up on this nautical side stoop and then climb aboard again.

The Lake Michigan model from Century Boats at Manistee, Mich., has the skin diver in mind from stern to stem. Grab handles edge the waterline at the back, and a hoist is even available amidships to lift aboard air tanks or an oversize fish.

But it's what's up front that makes special this new 20-footer they call the Trident. The full broad front is hinged to lower down to water level. The cockpit is self-bailing so waves that slop in won't sink the boat. Divers easily step out and onto the water from this forward ramp. Better still, the tired diver can swim back aboard alligator-style—simply sliding up onto the landing stage.

The Trident is made for outboard or sterndrive power, and fitted with a glass port in the bottom to watch what's going on below. Accessories can include an air compressor, bunk-sized seat cushions, convertible top and canvas sides to turn the Trident into a cabin cruiser for overnighting.

THE CENTURY TRIDENT is a new boat which launches skin divers offshore. A tail gate in the front now makes it easy for suited-up scuba fans to swim back aboard alligator style.

Sparmate Ellis Won't Knock Clay

By ROGER DOUGHTY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Jimmy Ellis wouldn't think of putting the knock on Cassius (Muhammad Ali) Clay, at least not outside the ring. But, if the unemployed Ellis could maneuver Muhammad into the arena, he thinks he could supply the words, music and muscle for a rendition of "Goodbye, Ali."

Ellis, a 27-year-old fighting father of five, knew Muhammad before Muhammad knew the difference between Mecca and Montreal. They're both from Louisville, fought twice as amateurs (they split), and have been stablemates and sparring partners for years. But success works in strange ways and Ellis has been doing so well of late that he's now out of work. Seems he wants to be his own boxer rather than Ali's alter ego.

Jimmy's big break (and self-administered pink slip) came on the night Clay clobbered Zora Foley at Madison Square Garden. Fighting in the semifinal, Ellis lowered the boom on heavily favored Johnny Persol, knocking out the 11-5 choice in the first round. The victory ran Jimmy's record to 23-5 with 11 knockouts, his last three in the first round.

Since Persol, the seventh-ranked heavyweight challenger, had been campaigning for a shot at Clay's crown, Ellis suddenly popped into the picture as a logical opponent for his friend, stablemate and former boss.

"It looks," laughed Ellis, "as if I lost my job. But it was worth it. Now maybe I'll get to take on the top contenders."

An Ellis-Floyd Patterson match is in the talking stage and a win over the former champion would catapult Jimmy right into the title picture.

Since Angelo Dundee, Clay's trainer, happens to be Ellis' manager, a lot of interesting possibilities are in the offing. "No problem," says Dundee. "I train the champ, but I manage Jimmy. It wouldn't be a tough deci-

CASSIUS CLAY Rates Ellis at the top

For the record, however, Dundee feels Ellis will be ready for a title bout "in about two years."

For his part, Jimmy is cautiously confident. "I think I can beat him," offers Ellis. "In a lot of ways we have the same technique. He bounces around more than I do, but I punch harder. I think my style would give him a lot of trouble."

Ellis should know what he's talking about. In addition to training with Clay since the champion took the title away from Sonny Liston, Jimmy has met Muhammad in a series of exhibitions in Europe and Puerto Rico. His left hook has been especially potent and the only knockdowns of Clay (by Sonny Banks and Henry Cooper) have come off left hooks.

"No doubt about it," says Ellis. "I know a lot more about the champ than most people do. Of course, he knows quite a few things about me."

As for Ali, he's only too happy to say some nice things about his boyhood friend. "He's the only one around who could give me a good fight," offers the champ, which might explain why Muhammad wants to keep Ellis in his employ.

Clay's biggest problems stem from his draft board. The champion faces Army duty but has a couple of appeals pending to avoid it. Ellis, of course, isn't the only good young heavyweight around (as Joe Frazier, Buster Mathis, Thad Spencer and a few others are happy to attest) but his long friendship with Clay and his relationship with Dundee might give him the inside track to a title test.

"Ellis," suggests a veteran New York boxing buff, "looks like the type of fighter who could give Clay plenty of trouble."

Provided, of course, the champion doesn't take one on the whiskers from Uncle Sam before Jimmy gets his chance.

Wonder if this year's spring poets will cut their hair last they be mistaken for long-haired mods?

SWITCH(ED) HITTER

On the NCAA Trail With Sandy

By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (NEA) — Lew Alcindor on a basketball court seems as bored as a millionaire shopping in a five-and-dime.

Lew is only a sophomore and already UCLA has one national championship and 30 straight wins. By the time he leaves school in two years that figure is expected to read three national championships and 90 wins.

Lew is 7-1. He is the nation's leading scorer (29.7), and even when he has a bad game, as he did against Houston in the NCAA semifinal, he is still a devastating force on a basketball court. "Just because he's out there," Houston coach Guy Lewis said.

Against Houston, Lew seemed tired and it appeared his mind was either back in Los Angeles or back in New York. Yet, effortlessly, he scored 19 points and grabbed 20 rebounds. And that was considered poor.

The following night, against Dayton in the championship game, he blocked four shots in the early going, and then relaxed as the Bruins methodically wore down the much-smaller Flyers 79-64. Again, he was not as spectacular as his press clippings promised. "But," he said, "I got the job done."

College basketball will have Alcindor for two more years. Some feel he's bad for the game. Others, like Jack Donohue, Lew's former coach at Power Memorial High School in New York, don't agree.

Jack is the coach at Holy Cross now and saw Lew for the first time as a collegian during the championship round. "The game," Donohue said, "is played first for the players, then for the student and then the public. If it were played solely for the fans then maybe you could say Lew's domination is not a good thing."

"I think he'll be good for the game, though, because of the publicity he will bring it. And he'll be good for UCLA, but he'll be bad for everyone he plays against."

"Even so, I don't think UCLA is unbeatable. Houston had a chance to beat them. They just didn't shoot well enough."

"People don't realize that Lew can't win all by himself. He needs quality players, like UCLA has, to support him."

There are recurring rumors that Alcindor is disenchanted with UCLA and college basketball because it offers little challenge, but Donohue discounts those theories.

"We won 71 straight at Power," Donohue said, "and I know how Lew reacted then. Success has kept him going. I would say that winning is an important part of his basketball life. With a winning team there's a tremendous amount of pride, personally, and with the team."

"But," Donohue continued, "I do feel sorry for him. He doesn't seem to have much of a private life, although once the season stops, the pressure will ease."

"Still it's hard for him to walk into a movie or get a soda without being noticed. I tried to prepare him for this by letting him know it would happen. He understands this, but he doesn't have to like it."

"I think UCLA has done a good job in trying to help him lead as normal a life as any other student. But it can't be done 100 per cent."

"It's true," Lew said, "I'm unhappy about certain aspects of my life, but I've always been that way. I'm in another city not near my home, but I'm here to play basketball and go to school and I think this is the best place to do it."

The UCLA athletic department, like Donohue who started it, believes in keeping Alcindor isolated as much as possible from the press and public. The policy has good points as well as bad.

"All I can say is that my life is easier now," Donohue said. "In a basketball sense, though, it's another story. I wouldn't mind being Johnny Wooden and having Lew. But I'm happy with the way things have worked out. We finished 16-9 at Holy Cross this year and the coaching is more of a challenge, but I don't know if it's more fun. Winning is a lot of fun, too."

Holy Cross, Donohue said, is trying to schedule regular season games with UCLA and the athletic departments of the two schools are working on possible dates.

Even if those games don't materialize, Holy Cross will have a chance at UCLA and Alcindor in the 1968 Holiday Festival in Madison Square Garden. Lew will be a senior then.

By 1968, Holy Cross figures to be one of the stronger teams in the east.

But, by 1968, Lew Alcindor figures to be the best player in the history of college basketball, and UCLA, with that superb supporting cast of Elkus Allen, Ken Heitz, Lynn Shackelford, Jim Nelsen and Bill Sweek, could be the game's greatest team.

Jack Donohue shrugged.

Two years ago, Power Memorial was frustrating every team and coach it faced.

In 1968, Jack Donohue may find out how it feels.
